Farmingville, NY - The Town of Brookhaven Division of Economic Development in conjunction with the Brookhaven Business Advisory Council will hold its 10th Annual Building Business in Brookhaven Expo on Oct. 30, 2014 from 5:30-8 p.m. at Town Hall in Farmingville.

The event, which is expected to draw more than 100 vendors, is focused on business networking. The expo will feature local, regional and national companies that offer goods and services in Brookhaven Town. Attendees will be able to meet with representatives from the Small Business Development Center, Small Business Administration and the Town of Brookhaven. Complimentary refreshments from Brookhaven businesses will be available. General admission is free, and vendor tables are available.

Last year, the expo attracted 100 vendors and 450 participants.

"The BBAC is a great resource for businesses to network, share ideas and help grow the local economy and the Expo is the perfect venue to do it," said Supervisor Ed Romaine. "I encourage our business community to take advantage of this opportunity to promote their business, make important contacts and reach new customers."

Henry Bramwell, president of the BBAC, said, "This is a must-attend event for any business in Brookhaven that wants to connect with a large audience of potential partners and customers."

This event is sponsored by the Town of Brookhaven, the Brookhaven IDA, and the Brookhaven Chambers of Commerce Coalition. For more information or to reserve a vendor table, contact the Economic Development Office at 631-451-6563.

About the BBACThe BBAC is comprised of business owners and professionals who serve on a volunteer basis. The Council's key function is to assist Town government by disseminating information to and from the business communities. They also help to compile information on business in Brookhaven Town, and develop and implement public information programs to educate the business community regarding outreach programs and assistance available to them. For more information about the BBAC, visit www.brookhavenbac.org or call Lisa Mulligan, Director of the Town of Brookhaven's Division of Economic Development at (631) 451-6563.
